DEBATE BITTER ON LEAGUE OF NATIONS

So Heated Are Exchanges That Chair Has to Rap Often For Order

Washington, May 26.—The League of Nations debate continued in the senate again today with increasing bitterness. Senator Reed, Democrat, of Missouri attacked the proposal in such vigorous terms that he aroused repeated objections from the senators supporting it, and developed a running debate, colored by dramatic accusations and heated retorts.

The Missouri senator declared the league will place the destinies of the white race in the hands of ignorant and superstitious nations of black and yellow populations.

Senator Hitchcock, Democrat, of Nebraska, insisted the premises for these charges were false, unfair and dangerous. He drew a reply from Senator Knox, of Pennsylvania, who suggested that the supporters of the league covenant read it before discussing it. So heated were the exchanges one time that the chair rapped for order.

BROTHERS BACK FROM OVERSEAS

The three Wheeler brothers, sons of the late Rev. W. S. Wheeler have returned home after spending twenty-seven months in the service of Uncle Sam, eight months of which was in France. The three brothers volunteered at the same time over two years ago and have never been separated, although they have been in many sections of the Union and overseas. They went through all the war together, and neither of them received a scratch. While they were in France their father died, during the flu epidemic, and they did not learn of it for over a month afterwards. Their names are John, who is the oldest Alfred and Vernon. They all returned to the United States together, and Vernon and Alfred returned to Hartford while John, who was suffering from a severe cold, remained in the hospital at Camp Taylor to recover.

CROP OUTLOOK DISCOURAGING

In an interview with County Agent M. L. McCracken, he stated that the crop outlook in Ohio County and the whole state as well, owing to the excessive rains of the last month, was one of the most discouraging ever faced in recent years. It is now late in the season and could the farmers begin work immediately they could not hope to have a full crop. And still the rain continues. If it rains as regular and as much for the next two weeks, we are informed, the prospects of a crop at all will be very slim. Scarcely any corn has been planted and what has been, is not making any progress. Much of the lower land is under water and tobacco planting seems to be an impossibility. Taking it all in all the farmers face one of the most alarming conditions ever presented.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Quite a number of young friends and relatives were pleasantly entertained by Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Stevens Saturday night, the occasion being the fifteenth birthday of their grand-daughter, Miss Josephine Pirtle. Eight of those present were cousins of the young lady. A very enjoyable evening was spent by all and Miss Pirtle was showered with many wishes of "happy returns" of the day. Those who spent the night with Mr. and Mrs. Stevens were: Messrs. Claude Barnard, Henry Barnard, Cedric Barnard and Ainslie Barnard; Misses Pauline Barnard, Josephine Pirtle, Nellie Reader, Ruth Stevens, and Hildred Barnard.

JAIL BROKEN OPEN

Some unknown person or persons broke into the lock-up at Rockport Friday night and set at liberty two men who were being held for trial. It is not known or suspected who did the breaking, but some one went into the blacksmith shop of Mr. Swain and took his tools, with which they effectively prised open the lock and set the prisoners free.

TEACHERS EXAMINATION HELD HERE LAST WEEK

The Teachers examination was held here last Friday and Saturday with thirty applicants for certificates. A large number of teachers took only the Agriculture examination which was the last subject Saturday afternoon. There were no failures on Agriculture.

There were fifteen made first class certificates and ten second class, with five failures in the regular examination. Those who took the regular examination were: Bessie Allen, Cora Tomasson, Earl Smith, O. N. Stewart, Mae Byers, Martine Taylor, E. F. Liles, Mrs. S. O. Keown, Lois Baker, Myrtle S. Calvert, J. W. Myers, Bess Hazelrigg, E. Gillam, Eva Mae Smith, Mamie Williams, J. B. Petty, Margaret Tomlin, Lillie Chinn, Dona Fuqua, Will Shields, Eva Tomasson, Rosa Cheek, Mrs. O. N. Stewart, Ina Gillam, Cliffe Austin, Marie Fuqua, Opia Brooks, and Edward Lee.

The highest grade was made by E. F. Liles 94 percent and the second highest by C. B. Shown 90-11-12 percent.

CIRCUIT COURT NOTES

The following new cases have been filed in the Ohio County Circuit Court since our last report:

Florence T. Taylor vs. C. T. Taylor, sue for divorce, alleging abandonment.

Mary H. Browning prays for a writ of divorce from J. E. Browning, alleging abandonment.

Arthur T. Daniel, the unhappy groom of the trio, sues Marion T. Daniel for divorce on the grounds of abandonment.

The Virginia-Carolina Chemical Co., vs. C. B. Carden, for the sum of $30.72 alleged balance of account.

W. P. Midkiff vs. Bert Coombs, on a plea for possession of a horse. This case is the result of a horse swap.

E. L. Gregory vs. Rockport Coal Co., for sum of $5434.64, alleged due because of an injury received while in the employ of said Company.

POPULAR YOUNG COUPLE WED

Quite a surprise was given the many friends of Miss Mattie McSherry, of Beaver Dam, last week when she left for Central City and it was learned soon after that she had been married in Greenville to Mr. Forrest Hudson, Tuesday night. Mr. Hudson has been in the service at Camp Shelby, Miss., but recently received his discharge and came back to "the girl he left behind him." The young couple are both well known and popular and have the best wishes of their many friends for a long and peaceful voyage on the ocean of matrimony.

TEACHERS TO GET SCHOOL JOURNALS FREE

At a meeting of the County Board of Education recently it was decided to give each rural teacher in the county during the next term the advantage of progressive educational reading by providing them with two good school journals free of charge. These journals will take up all phases of school life, with good practical suggestions and will be invaluable to the teachers.

The wisdom of the Board in making this decision is quite apparent.

BEAVER DAM GIRL ELOPES

(Special to Herald)

Miss Angela Maddox stole a march on her friends last Monday when she quietly took her suitcase and boarded the train for Jeffersonville, Indiana. Not even her family knew her intentions. At Jeffersonville she was married to Mr. J. A. Doering, of Louisville. Mrs. Doering was one of the most popular girls of Beaver Dam and has a host of friends here who wish her all the blessings of life in great abundance.

NOTICE

We now have sufficient supply of ice on hands to furnish farmer clubs. Will make special prices for the season where clubs take out at one time 1000 lbs. or more. Will make contracts with clubs any time during May.

ELLIS ICE CO.

W. G. DUNCAN,

Of Greenville, Ky., Unsolicited, Gave $5,101
To the Million Dollar Fund.

At the meeting of the Home Board, held on May 2, 1919, the following letter was read:

"W. G. DUNCAN COAL CO. (INC.)

"Luzerne Coal.

"Greenville, Ky., April 28, 1919.

"Mr. T. Jeff Adams, Superintendent Masonic Widows and Orphans' Home, Louisville, Ky.

"Dear Bro. Adams:—During the year 1918 I decided that I wanted to give the Masonic Widows and Orphans' Home the sum of $5,000.

"My first idea was to create a trust fund with the Fidelity & Columbia Trust Company, letting the income of the $5,000 each year go to the support of the children in the Home thereby supporting probably one child each year for all time to come.

"After discussing the matter with you and my son, A. W. Duncan, a few days ago, I have decided that I could be of more benefit to the Craft by giving the $5,000 for the construction of new buildings for the Home, as the present buildings are inadequate and not suitable in many respects for the best care of our widows and orphans and the best results in handling them. So I have placed in my lock box in the Fidelity Trust Company's vault one Fourth Liberty Bond No. 400, F. & A. M.; King Solomon's Chapter No. 5, R. A. M.; Louisville Council No. 4, R. & S. M.; DeMolay Commandery No. 12, K. T.; Louisville Consistory, A. A. S. R., 32, and a member of Kosair Temple, A. A. O. N. M. S.

"He is also a member of the I. O. O. F., and has been very generous to their Home at Lexington, Ky.

"He is a member of the Presbyterian Church and is a Trustee of the Presbyterian Theological Seminary of this city. This donation of Bro. Duncan of $5,101 is the largest donation so far received, and it came unsolicited.

"He is a resident of Greenville, Ky., and is President of the W. G. Duncan Coal Company. He is a real live wire in all the many societies that he is a member of, and a man that has made the world better by his having lived in it. His hand and heart go out to those who are in distress, and his words and actions are those of loving kindness to all around him. Bro. Duncan called Bro. T. J. Adams to come to the Fidelity & Columbia Trust Company on May 9 and delivered the bond, and requested that Bro. Adams deliver it to Bro. W. Carson Black, Treasurer of the Million-Dollar Committee. Bro. Duncan has two splendid sons, A. W. and W. G., Jr. They are excellent young men and are walking in the footsteps of their noble and generous father.

"This is a subscription on the $1,000,000 fund that the Masonic Craft in Kentucky is going to create for the purpose of constructing suitable buildings in Louisville for our widows and orphans.

"It gives me much pleasure to tell you that this bond is ready to be delivered to you for this purpose whenever you are ready to receive it.

"With very best wishes, I am, fraternally, W. G. DUNCAN."

Thereupon the Board of Directors voted to and did accept, for and on behalf of the Masonic Widows and Orphans' Home and Infirmary, the bond mentioned and described in Bro. Duncan's letter and that Bro. Duncan is requested to deliver the bond to the Treasurer of the Million-Dollar Committee.

PLACED IN JAIL

Alton Paris, accused of detaining a woman against her will, was arrested near Owensboro Friday night and brought back to Hartford where he was placed in jail to await trial. It is said Paris detained a woman near Cromwell and finding they were on his trail attempted to escape. He was arrested near Owensboro. His bond was fixed at $250 and being unable to meet it he was placed in jail.

LIST OF COMMON SCHOOL GRADUATES

Through the courtesy of County Superintendent E. S. Howard, we obtained the names and general averages of the graduates from the common schools of the county in the examination which was held at three places in the county, Hartford, Beaver Dam and Fordsville, May, 9th and 10th. The highest general average was made by Carrie Barnard, whose average was 90.9. The next was by Anna Lee Maddox, whose average was 90.8, being only one percent below. The names and averages of the graduates are given below:

GREAT EXPLOSION

Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

Editor Herald.

Hartford, Ky.

I wrote you letters sometime ago for publication but I guess it did not contain anything of interest so it was not published.

We had a terrible explosion here Thursday evening at 6:40 the Douglas Starch works which employ 1500 men blew up killing and injuring lots of people and damaging property to the amount of several millions. I work at Deneck's Dept Store and they were 9 blocks away and their damages to plate glass was $7000.00 dollars.

I live 28 blocks from the Starch works and it rocked our house but no damage. I am sending copy of paper and you will see the Company is holding back information from the public. The people think at least 100 lost their lives. I was on the ground in 10 minutes after it happened I saw one load after another being taken to the hospital. I passed one hospital on my way home and I saw the operating room crowded with wounded. 250 residences were wrecked by the explosion.

Yours very truly,

GUY RANNEY.

TEACHERS' ELECTIONS

Meetings will be held in the different school divisions of the county the first Saturday in June, the 7th, for the purpose of electing teachers for each respective division. These meetings should be attended by those interested and the trustees and school officials do not anticipate the shortage of teachers this year that existed last year. The meetings will be held as follows:

Division 1—At Barnett's Creek.

Division 2—has not decided on the place of meeting.

Division 3—At Dundee.

Division 4—At Rosine.

Division 5—At Green Brier.

Division 6—At Centertown.

CHAPTER XI

CHRISTMAS EVE

They were distributing the presents during this procedure and she sat apart from all the other girls, scornful and mad, without speaking. All around her they were laughing and talking in a wild ecstasy of happiness; but she sat in complete isolation, like a cold arctic island in a foaming tropical ocean. She received very few presents, only some small trinkets that her parents had placed on the tree for her—a brooch a small necklace, and a book or two. But Cora was given a beautiful little gold ring with a sparkling diamond set in it which glimmered and flashed brightly in the brilliant light of the chandeliers. This she took pains to exhibit to all the girls and especially Samantha, who only turned up her nose in contempt. This evoked a loud laugh from those who sat near her, Cora joining in even more heartily than the rest.

As soon as the affair came to an end poor little chagrined Samantha left before the rest of them and walked unattended down the snowy lane to her home. When she reached there she hurried up to her room and locking the door wept a deluge of tears. Disconsolate and angry, forsaken and slighted, she was the picture of maidenly sorrow. Oh how bitter seemed life and love to this little girl who had tasted only the first drops from the fountain of life. Her friends had deserted her, and Oscar whom she had trusted above all others had turned traitor and sided with her enemy, and even Merlin had not cared enough for her to write. This was the first time she had thought of him for months but she could not doubt his fidelity greatly. Perhaps she was accusing him falsely. Perhaps he had failed and would not write until he had made good, or he might be dead, killed and robbed by crooks in the city—She shuddered to think of it. She went over to the Mahogany bureau and took from it the lilac blossom. Holding this to her cheek she sank back to her couch and sobbed herself to sleep.

And Merlin, over a thousand miles away, was pining for a sight of the old home and dreaming of her at that moment. Christmas eve had been a lonesome day for him. Too proud to write to any of his former friends until he had amounted to something more than a mere reporter, no one knew where he was, and consequently he received no presents. As for companions, he had none except, Pedro who was unfortunately on a drunk just now and had been abed most of the day. He had no friends among the miners and moreover he did not want any; they were a class whose friendship he did not value him, unarmed as he was, that night in the saloon.

It had been a rough day in Smithville. The streets were thronged with drunk men, several fights had occurred, and one Mexican had been severely stabbed at the saloon. Late in the evening Merlin started far out of the town to while away the dragging time, out toward those snowy mountains that stood as a white wall against the western sky. Then as night came on he slowly retraced his foot steps back to his boarding house, while his mind wandered far away to the little town of Devondale and dwelt there, rehearsing the glad scenes of the past.

He heard loud voices as he passed the saloon, curses and filthy epithets such as are uttered only at drunken brawls. It brought a pang to the heart of Merlin for it called his thoughts away from his tender memories and brought him back to his present surroundings. Then with tear filled eyes he looked upward to the clear starry sky and thanked God that in spite of all temptations he still remained pure and untouched.

ALBANIA BEGS

U. S. MANDATORY

Will Perish Without Aid, Envoy Say

Paris, May 24.—Albania also begs America to come and govern her under a mandate and to save her from her neighbors, Italians, Greeks and Serbs. Albania, on the east coast of the Adriatic, is about the size of New Jersey, with a population half that of the city of New York.

Albania's delegation in Paris say Greece and Serbia will withdraw their claims to Albanian territory

if Italy can be induced or compelled to surrender Valonia, the only good Albanian port.

The delegation asks America to give her a small body of troops for police duty, a civil governor with American administrative experts and a temporary loan of a few millions which they say their oil and other resources would quickly repay if given an opportunity to develop under an orderly government.

The Albanians add that their

HE WAS "CALLED TO PREACH"

In one of the Southern States, says the Sarcoxie Record, a negro felt that he had been "called to preach" the gospel, so he applied for admission to the ministry and submitted himself to examination by a minister. The examination proceeded as follows:

"Can you read, Sam?"

"No, suh!"

"Can you write?"

"No, suh, I can't write, but my wife is a pretty good writer, suh."

"Well, do you know the Bible?"

"Yes, suh, I'se pretty good in the Bible, suh; I knows my Bible from lid to lid."

"What part of the Bible do you like best?"

"Well, suh, I like de New Testament best, suh."

"What book in the New Testament?"

"The book of the parables, suh."

"Which of the parables do you like best?"

"Which parable? Why, lawsy! I like the parable of the good Samaritan best ob dem all."

"Well, tell me the parable of the good Samaritan."

"Yes, suh, I will, suh."

"Once upon a time a man went down from Jerusalem to Jericho, an' fell among thieves, an' the thorns grew up an' choked that man, an' he went on an' he didn't have no money, an' he met Queen of Sheba, an' she gave that man a thousand talents ob gold an' a hundred changes of raiments. An' he got in the chariot an' drove furiously. And when he was driving along under a big tree, his hair got caught in a limb an' left him hangin' dar. Yes, suh! An' he hung dar many days an' many nights, an' the ravens brought him food to eat an' water to drink. An' one night while he was hangin' dar asleep, his wife, Delilah, came along an' cut off his hair, an' he dropped an' fell on a stony ground, an' it began to rain, an' it rained forty days an' forty nights. An' he hid himself in a cave. An' he went on an' met a man, who said: 'Come in an' take supper with me.' But he said: 'No, I won't; I married a wife an' I can't come!' An' the man went out into the highways an' byways an' compelled him to come in an' have supper. He went on an' came to Jerusalem, an' when he got there, he seen Queen Jezebel sitting high up in de window, an' when she saw him, she laughed at him, an' he said: 'Throw her down out of there!' and they threw her down. An' he said, 'Throw her down some more,' an' they threw her down. An' he said, 'Throw her an' of the fragments they picked up twelve basketfuls. Now, whose wife do you think she will be in the day of judgement?"

—BIBLE USED FOR SPY MESSAGES

New York, May 23.—Messages written in invisible ink on blank pages of a Bible was one way in which the German spy system in this country endeavored during the war to communicate secretly with the German Imperial Government.

Madame Marie de Victoria, who has admitted she was a Hun agent in America, testified here to-day in the trial of Willard J. Robinson, charged with treason.

Called by the Government in its effort to prove that Robinson went to Holland to carry information to the German Consul there on behalf of German agents here, Madame Victoria testified she was induced to Robinson by Jeremiah A. O'Leary, that Robinson consented to carry her messages to Germany and that she gave to Robinson a Bible containing secretly inscribed messages which she said were in code and which were developed with the aid of iodine tabs-lets.

Are Acts of Providence,

but late buying is a fault of yours. We have a full line now but when the rush comes our stock will be depleted, so why delay? Come in and see our tractor binders, grain drills, and plows, also the horse drawn implements. While butter fat is selling at 64 cents per pound and your cows at their best in milk production its an ideal time to let us demonstrate the money making qualities of the world standard cream separator, the DeLaval. 98 per cent of the creameries of the United States are using the DeLaval, WHY? FACTS AND FANCIES
ABOUT THE PHILIPPINES

(By Maximo M. Kalaw).

Secretary of The Philippine Mission Washington, May 21.—A certain lady at the St. Louis Exposition saw at a ball room a brown complexioned man clad in faultless evening dress, and accosted him with the inquiry, "I suppose you are Japanese, sir?"

The man addressed replied, "No, madam."

"Then you must be Chinese," she said.

"No, I am not; I am a Filipino," he replied.

"How's that?" asked the lady.

"I thought they were all savages living in the woods."

"Well, I'll tell you how I came here," he said. "A month before I left the Philippines I was living in the woods, but the American Governor decided to catch as many wild men as possible, train them, and send them over here. So the American forces were immediately set in motion, we were taken from the woods and kept for a month at the Governor's palace, taught how to dress and speak a little English, and then sent over here. So here I am, just as you see." And the St. Louis lady actually believed him.

That is what you would call fancy about the Philippines. The fact is, however, that the 10,000,000 Filipinos and their ancestors have been civilized and Christians for three hundred years; that the non-Christian population, according to the census of 1918, is only 500,000.

Another fancy is that not until the coming of the Americans were school buildings seen in the Islands roads built, or substantial houses erected. Do you know that for hundreds of years the Filipinos have had colleges and schools, and that the University of Santo Tomas is only twenty-five years older than Harvard? That as early as 1866, out of a population of 4,000,000 people, there were 841 schools for boys and 833 for girls? That in 1892, eight years before the coming of the Americans, there were 137 schools?

To grant self-government to Luzon under Aguinaldo, would be like granting self-government to an Apache reservation under some local chief." Thus spoke a former President of the United States during the Filipino-American war. Exaggeration could be an excuse, at a time when the dignity of the American people demanded the extinction of Filipino opposition; but do you know that the Philippine Republic, before the American occupation of the Islands, had the approval of prominent Americans who were on the spot, like John Barrett, Director of the Pan-American Union, who compared it favorably with the Japanese Government? That Admiral Dewey considered the Filipinos better fitted for self-government than the Cubans? That they had drafted a Constitution at Malolos which elicited the approval of distinguished Republicans like the late Senator George F. Hoar? That before the coming of the Americans they had produced national heroes like the martyred Jose Rizal who has been proclaimed by an Australian writer, Ferdinand Blumentritt, as the greatest man the Malayan race has produced, and pronounced by a Republican Congressman, Representative Cooper, as the noblest victim that has ever fallen into the clutches of tyranny?

Possibly the geographical situation of the Philippines had something to do with the fanciful estimate the St. Louis lady had. The Philippines are just next door to Borneo, where scientists have hunted in vain for Darwin's missing link between the monkey and the supermonkey. They are close to Java, where the small country of Holland has ruled for hundreds of years through a system of natives and princes and royal families steeped in mediaeval ideas of government. Farther east is India with her teeming millions, divided up into scores of native states and by almost impassable caste system, blood distinction, or royal families, and that, unlike their Oriental sisters, they are the only Christian people in the Orient?

People have pictured an ignorant mass of Filipinos, illiterate, poor, living a life of servitude for a few wealthy land-owners and foreigners, with no houses and farms or property of their own. Do you know that seventy per cent of the people above ten years of age can read and write, and that this percentage of literacy is almost as high as some of the States of the Union? That it is higher than in any country of South America, higher than the literacy of the Spanish people, and unquestionably above that of any of the new countries recognized in Europe? Do you know that there are a million and a half farms in the Philippines, and that ninety-six per cent of these farms are owned by Filipinos? In other words, that out of the ten million Christian Filipinos, eight million of them at least live on their own farms, with houses of their own, independent of any absentee landlord or foreign master? That ninety-one per cent of the urban property consisting of houses and lands is owned by the natives of the Philippines, and only nine per cent is in the hands of foreigners? Yet these are facts which have just been cabled by Acting Governor-General Charles Emmett Yeater to the War Department from the recent census estimates.

The Philippine legislature recently sent a special Mission to the United States to request the fulfillment of America's promise to grant independence. It is their plea that the specified condition precedent to the granting of autonomy—the establishment of a stable government—is already fulfilled. Their representations are indorsed in every particular by Francis Burton Harrison, who has been the American Governor-General in the Philippines for six years, and is in a position to speak from actual observation.

"By temperament, by experience, by financial ability," says Governor Harrison, "in every way the ten millions of Filipinos are entitled to be free from every government except of their own choice. They are intelligent enough to decide for themselves."

WHY 'POISONED ARROWS'
MADE HINDENBURG CRY

No less a personage than old von Hindenburg himself paid tribute to the high efficacy of Allied propaganda that did so much to wreck Teuton morale and bring about the collapse of autocracy. In September, 1918, only a few weeks before the armistice was signed, the Prussian general became so panicstricken over the "poisoned arrows" or wads of truth the Allies were sending over by every conceivable method to inform the German people and soldiers of their hopeless plight that he cried aloud his protest. And well he might, declares William G. Shepherd, in "Poisoned Arrows" in the June New Red Cross Magazine, for every so-called evil which he prophesied to Germany in his message of alarm came to pass before many days had gone by. Concerning general aspects of cross-themes propaganda, of which Mr. Shepherd made an exhaustive study the writer says:

"It is a significant fact that the German air propaganda consisted mostly of news items or threats; these were intended to disconcert or discourage the enemy. Never did their propagandists attempt to give arguments in favor of the German cause. In all the wonderful War Museum in Paris I today fail to find any of the German pamphlets which even attempt to convince a Frenchman or an Englishman that the German cause was right. On the other hand a resume of thousands of pamphlets in the Museum, distributed by the Allies, discloses a world of argument. The poison arrows of von Hindenburg could strike home nowhere in all France or England while the poison arrows of the Allies, armed with truth, pierced the German armor at every shot. It was as if the Germans shot with shells that did not explode, while every shell of the Allies counted. How could Germany win in the war of killing the enemy spirit with odds against her like that?"

IS THIS YOUR EXPERIENCE?

Many Hartford People Are Afflicted With Annoying Kidney Ills. Are you bothered with too frequent action of the kidneys? Are the secretions highly colored—do they contain sediment—burn and scald in voiding? These are all signs if kidney sickness and should not be neglected. Hartford people recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. If your back aches and your kidneys are weak you will find no better recommended remedy.

R. H. Gillespie, blacksmith, Union St., Hartford, says: "As my trade caused me to do quite a bit of hard work and bending over, I suffered severely from backache. Sometimes it seemed as if my back were pierced with a knife, the pain was so sharp and severe. The action of my kidneys was too frequent and the kidney secretions were scalding and highly colored. Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Williams' drug store gave the best of results, and I am glad to recommend this medicine." Price 60c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Gillespie had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfgs., Buffalo N. Y.

DON'T THROW AWAY Your Old Tires

Conserve and Help Lick the Kaiser

THIS is to show you why "DRI-KURE RETREADING" with a 3,500-mile guarantee will save you one-half to two-thirds on your tire bill.

"Dri-Kure Retreading" is a proven factory method—not the old "kettle" process that soaks the carcass of your tire with steam, that, when cold, turns to water and rots the fabric.

"Dri-Kure" method is operated by DRY HEAT under 3,000 pounds pressure. The mere fact that racing drivers use tires cured by the Dri-Kure Process is proof that we build our treads for service.

Tom Alley, Chicago racing driver, averaged 104 miles per hour for 100 miles at Chicago Speedway, June 22, 1918, without a tire change and all on Retreaded Tires. There's a reason.

Now Compare the Cost and Saving

Compare the cost of the tire you have on your car now and the cost of Dri-Kure Retreading, the same size. The chart of prices will show you the cost of retreading.

Now Figure the Saving for Yourself and remember that every tire we retread is guaranteed for 3,500 miles. Is this saving worth while? Think it over. Who wouldn't want to save from one-half to one-third of their tire bills?

We will gladly show you the complete detail and extend to you a personal invitation to come in for a chat. We will prove to you the success of this process to your own satisfaction.

The rainy weather of the last few weeks has been equal to the proverbial "patience of Job" in the matter of holding out.

The voters of Kentucky have been reading a good deal recently about conditions in Louisville under a Republican administration. They have decided that the best way to check this epidemic is to quarantine it, not spread it to all the state.

We learn from our Republican friends that "To Morrow belongs the right and necessity of resuming the state from the odium cast upon it by the present administration," as we recently heard said, but we also remember the words of the old song, "To Morrow's Sun May Never Rise."

Germany is much worried because, to quote one of her statesmen, "not a single one of Wilson's points is being enforced." The trouble is, Fritz, these points are not single. They are all married and have big families and you are getting the whole bloomin' family at once.

Soldiers returning from overseas exhibit a wholesome dislike of the Europeans. None have we met who liked the Germans, few who liked the English and fewer who liked the French. In fact, none of those peoples to whom we gave so much and from whom we received so little regard us with any too great degree of respect.

Kentucky has given over two thousand young lives to the cause of human freedom in the great war. In order to appreciate this fact and arrange for a suitable memorial, the Kentucky Council of Defense is calling on all county historians to furnish complete data about the soldiers from each county.
Miss Lettie Marks is our county historian and should be furnished with this information at the earliest possible date.

Editor Lawrence of the Cadiz Record says, concerning the withdrawal of two gubernatorial candidates, that they were not choked out as was Jim Ramey and others at the Republican Convention. The Democrats are sadly behind, we fear; we are entirely devoid of a good political boss like Chesley Searcy, and others to tell the voters how they should vote and think, and have no alternative but to go about things in the same old way.

County Agent M. L. McCracken has arranged for two Farmers' Chautauquas to be held in the county during the last of July and the first of August. One will be held at Matanzas and the other at Sulphur Springs. There will be speakers present who will lecture on pertinent agricultural subjects and addresses will be made by local men. Mr. McCracken is making an endeavor to place Ohio county on a high plane of efficiency as an agricultural county and it is hoped he will have the support of all the citizens.

It seems now that the post road from Owensboro to Bowling Green, passing through Ohio County, is assured. The amount is almost subscribed and probably will be by the time this reaches our readers.
This, we believe, is the greatest forward move Ohio County has made in the last decade. One good pike through the county, connecting two points like Owensboro and Bowling Green, will mean more in a commercial way than any enterprise that could possibly be established in the county. It will open up business possibilities, make us more like neighbors to the outside interests, and in fact destroy much provincialism that naturally clusters about a county or section that is isolated. On with the good work. Let this pike be only a nucleus around which we will build up the greatest and best road system that a county has ever boasted, and lay Ohio County's boundless resources open to capital and encourage development

On to Bowling Green!

If there is one thing Ohio County needs more than any other thing, it is a spirit of co-operation, or community spirit. In this county, as well as in all other counties where the population is almost wholly rural, there is evidence of a tendency toward factionalism and clannishness. If any thing is proposed somebody naturally takes up with the idea and the fellow who does not like one who takes up for it, opposes it for the same reason and no other. Thus many a good proposal has been cast in the rubbish heap because of factional wrangling and family brawls. Most of this is due to isolation, and, given a good system of roads, the people will see larger vision and learn that "it is not good for one to live for one's self alone," or for "me and my wife, my son and his wife; us four and no more."

Next Thursday will tell the tale about the future of Germany and of the world. Will she sign the peace terms or will she not, is the question. They have been presented and will not be greatly modified.
The American army waits along the line of the Rhine, eager to go forward, expectant and awaiting the word. England is still there with her millions; France has not yet withdrawn her legions. Germany is broken, the enemy on her soil and her navy gone; without stable government, without sympathy and at the feet of her conquerors seemingly. But this time things have changed to what they were when the armistice was signed. Italy is out of tune, haughty and threatening trouble; Japan is willing and ready to step in where she can get most gain; Russia would be plainly on the side of Germany. And more than all, if the struggle should be opened all the German people would be of one accord. It would be a war to the knife, a fight for the extermination of the German race, a death-struggle of a nation. We can imagine the awful cost of such a war and can shudder at the very contemplation or even possibility. Yet it is possible. The world awaits with bated breath the result of the next few days.

was a resident of Muhlenburg county at the time of his death, having moved from Ohio county in the year 1888. He was widely known for his active church work.

He is survived by his wife, (the same age of himself) and one daughter, Hortense, the wife of E.
H. Casebier, 18 grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren.

GERMANY MUST ADMIT RESPONSIBILITY FOR WAR

Paris.—The answer of the Council of Four to the German note regarding reparations, which will be handed to the Germans to-night, points out in reply to the German refusal to admit responsibility for the war that it is impossible to distinguish responsibility from reparations.

The reply recalls that the Germans raised no objection to Secretary Lansing's note of last November, in which he spoke of German aggression.

Inexpensive Blouses That Possess Real Charm and Character

When you once become familiar with the many splendid qualities of the extremely moderately priced Blouses to be found here at all times, then your entire conception of what an inexpensive Blouse might be will have been changed. Many folks who are unacquainted with our unusual Blouse offerings are of the opinion that a low price for a Blouse is not consistent with good style and real merit; this opinion will undergo a pleasing revision when one but learns of just how good a Blouse a small sum will purchase here. For example take these:

Wirthmor Waists at $1.50

They're decidedly good-looking and they're just as good as they are good-looking. They are made of quality fabrics; they are finished throughout with the utmost care; and they are cut absolutely true to size and warranted to be perfect fitting.
They really have so very much to commend them that we urge their acquaintance, for we know that a one-time wearer of a Wirthmor most always becomes a staunch friend and loyal admirer.

Winsome New Styles Now on Sale

Wirthmor Waists can be sold in just one good store in every

RHEA OUT OF RACE;
STANLEY MEN DROP

Administration Adherent Denies Russellville Man Like Cherry
Ditched

Thomas S. Rhea, Russellville, is out of the race for the Democratic nomination for Governor.

This information reached the Courier-Journal last night from a source that cannot be doubted. When an effort was made to verify it through a telephone call to the home of Mr. Rhea, he had retired for the night, and declined to talk over the telephone. His brother, Mr. Rhea, said, however, that Mr. Rhea had prepared a statement which may be made public to-day.

For several days a rumor has been current that Mr. Rhea would drop out of the race for Governor. One of the stories in circulation is that State Administration forces, after ditching H. H. Cherry, Bowling Green, in favor of the Russellville man, had become convinced that he could not win, and, desirous of getting behind a candidate whom they believed might have a chance, had again switched their allegiance, this time flopping to Lieut. Gov. Black. This story was denied last night by one close to the Administration, who declared that these forces had been loyal to Mr. Rhea to the last.

Percy Haly Is Blamed

From another source it was learned that Mr. Rhea had been influenced in his decision to drop from the race by finding an impression widely held that he was the candidate of Gov. Stanley and followers. This impression was spread through false representation. The Courier-Journal informant claimed, nevertheless it had handicapped Mr. Rhea in his candidacy. The Russellville man, "it was said," blamed Percy Haly, Frankfort, largely, for the spread of the "false" impression, and had Mr. Rhea continued in the race until after making his opening speech, scheduled for next Saturday at Frankfort, he would have charged Mr. Haly with responsibility for the impression that had become State-wide in its scope.

Just whom the candidates for the Democratic nomination for Governor the withdrawal of Mr. Rhea will help is problematical. The fact that he and Col. H. H. Denhardt, Bowling Green, are from the same Congressional district, was voiced by some last night as basis for their belief that the Bowling Green man may benefit by the withdrawal of the Russellville man. Some of those questioned regarding the matter, however, expressed the belief that Judge John D. Carroll, of New Castle, might benefit.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

TOWNS HELPED FARMERS

Wheat and hay harvest will be in hand within the next three weeks and there will be considerable difficulty in some sections in getting sufficient labor to harvest these crops. A similar labor shortage last year was successfully met in Daviess, Owen, Fayette, Mercer and other counties in Kentucky by the help of men from the towns who volunteered to go out and work in the fields during the emergency. A movement was organized and promoted by the College of Agriculture through its Farm Help Specialist and County Agricultural Agents which demonstrated conclusively that such volunteer labor can be of real help on the farms in time of emergency.

Two hundred volunteers from the city of Owensboro helped harvest the wheat and hay crops of Daviess County, and also help cut and house the tobacco crop. At Lexington 405 volunteers took a leading part in harvesting and threshing the wheat crop, thinning corn and doing other work on the farms in Fayette County. The volunteers included business men, salesmen, doctors, preachers, lawyers, county and town officials, bankers, telephone linemen, street car operators and men from various other lines of business and industry. In most cases the volunteers went out for two or three days at a time as they were called upon, some devoted their vacations to working on the farms.

Farmers at first laughed at the idea. But when it was proved that these men could do effective work they called for volunteers in large numbers. Most of the volunteers had had previous farm experience and were able to make first-class hands. The few who were inexperienced also did good work. In only a few cases did the heat and hard work prove too much for the men and these few were able to resume work after resting an hour or so. In nearly every case the men earned and the farmers gladly paid them the prevailing wages for that kind of farm work. The men who enlisted in the movement last year have signified their willingness to lend their help again this year should that be necessary to save the crops.

AGENT CAN GET IT

The following very timely questions are asked in an editorial in the Progressive Farmer:

"Why is it that farmers fail to consult their Experiment Station where they can get accurate information, but will knuckle at once to a sleek and smart-talking agent who has a secret method of making fertilizer, and will pay the fellow for his prescription, which is perfectly worthless?"

"Then when another man comes around and shows them a wonderful bean and tell them that the Chicasaw Lima bean is the most wonderful plant known, they will put their money into it and then ask advice from those who are ready and anxious to help them, and who would have saved them their money had they asked help before being duped."

"Why is it that when some picture paper, nominally a farm paper, prints some wonderful account of how some man made a fortune with some crop they have never grown, and for which they are totally unprepared, many farmers will jump for it, and write for all sorts of advice in regard to growing it, when the chances are ten to one against it in their case?"

The county agent should be useful in answering questions like the above. Of course, it goes without the saying that an every-day, hard-worked county agent can not answer all the questions that come to him; but he does know where he can—secure—the—information. In fact, the county agent ought to be considered largely as the man who knows where information can be secured rather than the man who knows it all.

MORRIS L. McCRAKCN, Emergency Demonstration Agent, Hartford, Kentucky.

CHINESE THREATENTHEIR PARIS ENVOYS

Paris. — Messages threatening violence if they sing the peace treaty have been received from various parts of China by the Chinese delegation. A despatch sent by 35,000 citizens of Shantung Province, dated Tsinanfu, May 11, says:

"Regarding the Tsingtau problem Japan shows contempt for public right and never ceases to be ambitious. The people of Shantung refuse to accept as effective such illegal demands. The traitors to our country, Tsao Yu Lin (Minister of Communications, whose house was burned at Peiping) and Chang Tsung Hsiang (former Minister to Japan, who was severely beaten by the Chinese) deserved death for the blow suffered by the Chinese people.

"Should you sign the Japanese proposal you must receive the same treatment upon returning to China. We cannot give ear to apologies. Do not fail us. We are much in earnest."

Thirty American banking institutions will form the group to represent the United States in the new consortium organized to-day by American, French, British and Japanese bankers for the financing of Chinese loans, it was said to-day by those who are taking a leading part in the negotiations. The American banks will include four which took part in the farmer joint financial operations in China, in the enlargement taking in most of those banking houses which have special interests in Chinese.

FORBID FRENCH PILOTSTO FLY LOW OVER CITY

Paris.—Pilots of airplanes are forbidden by an official order issued Monday to fly over towns or crowds of people except at such a height which permits them to plane down to a landing field in case their motors stop. Aerobic feats over towns are prohibited entirely. Military pilots are warned against flying over Paris except under orders on pain of dismissal from the service.

1,700,000 PENSIONERS,
FRANCE IS 15 YEARS
BEHIND ITS SCHEDULED

Paris, May 17.—In replying to complaints of delay in the allocation of military pensions, Leon Abrami, under Secretary of State for Pensions, told the Chamber of Deputies to-day that with his present staff it would take from twelve to fifteen years to clear up the work. He said that the bureau had 1,700,000 cases of wounded and widows to deal with and that the present staff, which had been reduced through demobilization, was able to cope with only 120,000 a year. The Under Secretary suggested that the staff be re-enforced by the temporary employment of wounded soldiers.

IN ARCADY

I caught one haunting glimpse of you,
Long, long ago in Arcady;

Upon the hills the blossoms fell—
Why did you not come down to me?
In vain I sought you; twilight came
But you were gone as visions go,
And only in my dreams I see

The little maid of Arcady
Who vanished long ago.

Better one night to dream of you,
To hold you close, as lovers do,
Than all the days that steal from me
My sweet dream maid of Arcady.

I wait till all the world's asleep,
As one who counts his treasures o'er;

I know my dream the tryst will keep

As it has kept so oft before,
And bring you back, so pure, so sweet—

I lift my arms to you and cry,
"Come down to me; I love you so;
One word, one smile before you go Back to fair Arcady."

Sometime I know—O, sure am I—
You'll kiss me as you say good-bye;
Then life and death one dream will be
Of you, my Maid of Arcady.

Beauty Hides a Multitude of Virtues in the Maxwell

THIS time beauty conceals the virtues—not the "sins." For the new "garments" of the March Maxwell are severely pretty, simple, modern, and the kind that make you want to possess one.

But underneath this "robe of beauty" you'll find a sound, rugged, compact, everlastingly-on-the-job chassis that now has a record manufacturing run of 300,000—all alike.

For in 5 years that number of chassis have come out of the 8 great Maxwell plants—each built on the same pattern; each one better than the last.

To date more than 1000 refinements, big and little, have been made in the Maxwell. The plan is to improve and improve—but not to change in any radical way the original chassis.

Thus you'll understand why a Maxwell never quits running; never grows wobbly and loose with age; never forces the garage man to send you a staggering bill for mechanical treatment.

Now you get a far better Maxwell than ever before. Which would be sufficient for the average buyer. But more than that you're getting a Maxwell that the touch of artistic magic has made into a car of rare beauty.

It doesn't take an art critic to pass judgment on the beauty of a March Maxwell. Anyone with fair eyesight gets it in a jiffy.

SMILES

A traveling-man one night found himself obliged to remain in a small town on account of a washout on the railroad caused by the heavy rain, which was still coming down in torrents. The traveling-man turned to the waitress with:

"This certainly looks like the flood."

"The what?"

"The flood. You've read about the flood, and the ark landing on Mount Ararat, surely."

"Gee, mister," she returned, "I ain't seen a paper for three days."

A preacher, at the close of one of his sermons, said: "Let all in the house who are paying their debts stand up." Presently every man, woman and child, with one exception, rose to their feet.

The preacher seated them, and said: "Now, every man not paying his debts stand up." The exception, a careworn, hungry-looking individual, clothed in his past summer's suit, slowly assumed a perpendicular position.

"How is it, my friend," asked the minister, "you are the only man not able to meet his obligations?"

"I run a newspaper," he answered, "and the brethren here who stood up are my subscribers, and—"

"Let us pray," exclaimed the minister.

Mistress—Did you see if the butcher had pigs' feet?

Maid—No, ma'am; I couldn't—he had his boots on!

"Can you imagine," said the fac-tious teacher of natural history, "anything worse than a giraffe with a sore throat?"

"Yes, sir," came the answer from one boy.

"What, pray?" asked the teacher in surprise.

"A centipede with corns."

"I say, doctor, did you ever doctor another doctor?"

"Oh, yes."

"Well, tell me this: Does a doctor a doctor the way the doctor wants to be doctored, or does the doctor doing the doctoring doctor the other doctor in his own way?"

Niece—I do think you are clever, aunt, to be able to argue with the professor about sociology.

Aunt—I've only been concealing my ignorance, dear.

Professor Bilks (gallantly)—Oh, no, Miss Knowles. Quite the contrary, I assure you.

"What would you say," began the voluble prophet of woe, "if I were to tell you that in a very short space of time all the rivers will dry up?"

"I would say," replied the patient man, "Go thou and do likewise."

She—So many men marry for money. You wouldn't marry me for money, would you, dearest?

He (absently)—No, darling; I wouldn't marry you for all the money in the world.

"Officer," said a lady much above the usual avoidupolis, "could you see me across the street?"

"Madame, I could see you half a block."

RED CROSS NOTES

"Resources of the American Red Cross are being heavily taxed since the signing of the armistice to carry on relief work which must be done," says the last issue of the Red Cross Bulletin issued from National Headquarters, Washington, D. C.

In order to help meet the needs at home and overseas, the American Red Cross Department of Nursing is launching a campaign for the enrollment of nurses in the Red Cross nursing service. According to the April report, ten new assignments were made in Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky.

Over three million school children in the United States have qualified as crusaders in the health campaign conducted jointly by the Junior Red Cross and National Tuberculosis Association. Through unremitting washing, brushing of teeth and other "chores," they are advancing to knightly rank, eager to compete for the victors' pennant.

Fifty canvas buildings which served last summer as hospital wards for American soldiers at Chateau Thierry have been obtained by the American Red Cross and transplanted to the site of the Paris Exposition, where they are now being used to shelter and feed 1,600

CITIZENS OF OHIO COUNTY

Since the severe illness of Rev. A. D. Litchfield I have been asked to take the chairmanship of The American and Syrian Relief Committee for Ohio County and Miss Cliffe Felix has been elected Secy and Tres. We have been asked for $1400. or about five cents for each man, woman and child in the county.

Several committees have been appointed for various parts of the county to solicit funds, co-operate with them and send all funds to Miss Felix, Hartford. Between two and three hundred dollars have already been collected and sent to headquarters, but we have no way of telling the amounts until same is reported to us.

The pie supper given by the Ladies Aid Society at Washington Saturday night was very well attended for the kind of weather, a nice little sum was made.

Miss Cliffe Baird is visiting Miss Nettie Park this week.

Mrs. Amy Funk spent Saturday and Sunday with Mrs. T. W. Lowe. Mrs. Hartley Park and son, Phil-

"GONE BUT NOT FORGOTTEN"

While at her home near Deanfield, Tuesday evening, May 20, at 6 o'clock the white winged messenger called Mrs. Nancy Jane Royal to her home sweet home. She was born in Daviess county, January 1st 1844 and was the widow of Rev. John Thomas Royal. They were members of the Methodist church. She was a devout Christian.

To this union God blessed them with six children to mourn her death. W. D. Royal, the only son, resides at Fordsville; Mrs. Sarah J. White, of Owensboro; Mrs. Bettie Miller, of Hartford; Mrs. Almeda Fuqua, of Fordsville; and Mrs. Lillie Wallace, deceased.

May we all realize that our dear mother's loss is Heaven's gain. And she has gone with Christ to reign. Her teaching at her knee was not in vain and she leaves us behind for a little while to tread the path of rectitude and honor. Remember your dear darling mother watches you from on high. May the God of love bless you, sustain you, under this heavy affliction.

REV. W. J. MILLER.
